Dominion Parliament.

Wednesday, March 1st, 1871.
In the Senate yesterday Hon. Mr. Frank Smith and Hon. Robert Hood were introduced and sworn in members of that body.

In the House of Commons papers relating to the arbitration between Quebec and Ontario were laid on the table—from which it appeared that the Dominion Government had taken no action upon the report of the arbitrator, so that the people would be left to either party until the appeal to the British Privy Council, of which Quebec had given notice, would be adopted. The Dominion government intends to stand neutral.

In reply to Mr. Connell, Sir Geo. E. Cartier stated that individual losses on account of the Fenian raids had been submitted with the Government intended to introduce a measure further to protect the public from failures of insurance companies.

Mr. Magill having moved for a copy of the commission and instructions to the Commissioners on the subject of canal enlargement, a discussion arose as to the necessity of the Commission.

Mr. Holton held that it was unconstitutional to appoint Commissioners for the purpose, believing that the Government should have performed the work for which the Commissioners had been appointed.

Mr. F. Hinks held that the Government had adhered to the English practice, and consequently that their action was perfectly constitutional.

After transacting some other business the House adjourned at six o'clock.

A veteran Yankee sailor who was with Forester in the terrible battle below New Orleans, having his leg shot off below the knee, observed to an officer, "That's but an equal dollar touch; an inch higher and I should have had my twelve dollars; for it is according to the scale of pensions allowed for wounds. The same man, as they were lifting him on a brother's shoulders, said to one of his friends: 'Bob, take a look for my leg, and get me the silver buckle out of my case; I'll do as much for you, please God, some other time.'

"How often does the steam car make trips on this railroad? asked a countryman, as he stepped into the station of the Lakes & Woodville (L.W.) Railroad. "Tri-weekly," was the reply. "What do you mean, tri-weekly?" asked the stranger. "It goes up one week, and tries to come down the next."

Midnight Despatches.

Our midnight despatches state that the preliminaries of peace were ratified on the 27th by the National Assembly at Bordeaux by a vote of 548 yeas to 107 nays. The Germans said their triumph at Paris yesterday forenoon and took possession of Champ Elysee without the least incident occurring to their visit. Great precautions were taken by the authorities to prevent disturbance, and fortunately no opposition was offered.

Morning Despatches.

The Entry into Paris.

New York, March 2.—The 'Herald' Paris special of last night says: By last night the whole German squadron assembled on the Veuilly side of the A. A. more of 200 looked on with a mixture of indifference and indignation. There was no external sign of rage. At a quarter of nine the staff arrived with General Von Kanake in front, followed by 90 officers with all arms and in all sorts of uniforms. They did not stop, but rode down the Champs Elysees to the house of Queen Christine, where their headquarters were established. One of the officers, Count Waldersee, failed to shake hands with one of our group, an Englishman. They waited a few minutes, but did not come. The Prussians had passed this gentleman was attacked by three men in cloaks, but he managed to keep his temper. Three hundred yards below the staff came Battalion Six with drums and rifles. There came a troop of blue dragoons down the Avenue de la Grande Armee, entered the Rue de Valenciennes and began lighting the houses surrounding the Place de l'Etoile, whose doors were all open at that street. The moment the military column was observed, the mob surrounded him gazing and sniggering like school-children. At this time the crowd began to increase and the Point d'Industrie where the troops were halted. The women began to appear in a passion at the sight of the Prussians and began to throw stones. The men present were mainly foreigners. At the Point du Jour only a few dragoons had entered up to ten o'clock. No advanced guard had been passed forward. The Bois de Boulogne is entirely deserted. At the corner of the main-avenue a Hussar sat like a statue on his horse. Small parties of cavalry passed occasionally along the lake. Troops were passing in some numbers from right of o'clock through the Bois de Boulogne, and marching towards Point Neuf. There had crossed the bridge on a post-horse brought built last night near Point du Jour. The inhabitants of the Bois de Boulogne are perfectly good-humored.

How to Play on a Organ in Meeting.

When the preacher comes in and kneels down in the pulpit, put out all the stoppers. That's what the stoppers is for.

When a solo is given out to sing, play it as they can't tell, whether it's that tone or some other tone. It will amuse the people to gaze.

When you play the interludes, sometimes pull all the stoppers out, and sometimes pull them all in. The stoppers is made to pull out and in.

Play the interludes about twice as long as the tone. The interludes is the best part of the service, and should be the longest.

Play from the interludes into the tone without letting them know when the tone begins. This will teach them to mind their business. Always play the interludes faster or slower than the tone. This will keep it from being the same tone as the tone.

If the preacher gives out a voice play 4. Too many voices is tedious.

During the service go out of the church, and come back in time for the next tone. This will show them you don't mean to be hard on the preacher by having ten minutes to listen to him at most.—The Occident.

Availing myself of the armistice I had made within the last few days a short "circular tour," to visit once familiar places, conquerors and the conquered, and to ascertain the opinions of all concerned touching the questions of peace, war and Government.

Only passing in and out of the French lines did I experience any difficulty, which was limited to a rigid examination of my papers. It will be a happy day for France

On arriving at the Amiens station there is something of the bustling life of a big city. General Faidherbe and Changarnier are at Amiens, as candidates for the National Assembly, and to which it is said they have been elected. There were several French officers also walking about, who were to go on, pending the election, but not return to the place from whence they came after the closing of the poll. The Germans in no way interfered with the voting.

Two hours, when a kooky case was over, showed hands, and were of the kind, "would I said the client, 'I would like to see you as a friend, who were such for just now'."

"You feel," said one, "we have, though alone, 'like them, never eat, but what's between'."

Fruit of small Fruits.

Win. Parry of New-Jersey who has grown small fruits extensively for many years past, and who knows how to cultivate them as well as market them, was called at the meeting of the Pennsylvania Fruit Growers' Society, that his average returns per acre for the past year were $284. Blackberries had yielded in one year the same number of bushels as the rate of $300 per acre—the only one worth cultivating being the Wilson, Dorchester, and Killbuck. The average price, per bushel, was 10 cents. The three most profitable sorts of strawberries at present are Charles Downing, Downer's Frolic, and Kentucky; next best, Green Frolic, and Kentucky, and the last, the Cranberry crop of New Jersey is estimated 30,000 barrels, amounting to $1,000,000—30,000 acres being under cultivation.

much obliged to you. In saying the boy left, little realizing that his own notorious character has been as a bright place of sunshine into that busy world as an ironing board. A boy animated by the desire to help his mother will always find friends.

Buying Milk at Cheese Factories.

The matter of buying milk by the producers, instead of making it up for the patrons, as has been commonly practiced, is being agitated at Montreal. A firm in West Eaton, Madison County, who are the proprietors of factories there, have made a proposition to their patrons that they choose between two factories and two creameries, and the average price per pound received by the patrons of the five factories for their milk shall determine the price per pound that the firm shall pay for the milk. Of course this manner of receiving the factories is not new. The subject has been for some time agitated, and in a few cases we have heard of the being very satisfactorily practiced. It has the advantage of making the manufacturer more responsible for the quality of the milk, and consequently will make them more anxious to improve their productions and to practice the greatest economy. A matter of a little more or less comes from a hundred pounds of milk, which would be very little indeed, when divided among a number of persons, would be very appreciable in the aggregate. Indeed, we believe this would greatly stimulate the efforts of the manufacturer in all respects, and eventually the milk would come to meet the producer more than under the present rather irresponsible and sometimes wasteful system.

DISHONEST STATEMENT.

From what has been published in the Toronto Globe editorially within the last week, in reference to the coming elections, and the votes given by the members of the Ontario Legislature during the past session, no one will be surprised at the following, which appears in that journal of the 29th Feb:

"There is a great deal of dissatisfaction at Dr. Butler's treatment of the voters of the backwoods, and he is blamed for withdrawing his resolutions in their favor at the dictation of the Government."

By reference to the files of the Globe, it will be seen that it was Mr. McKellar, one of the leaders of the Opposition, who called the attention of the Speaker to the fact that the motion was out of order, as it affected the revenue of the Province, and could not be put. This view was sustained and the resolutions had to be withdrawn. Yet, in the face of this, the Toronto Globe has the audacity to state that Dr. Butler withdrew his resolutions "at the dictation of the Government." There does not appear to be anything too absurd or too dishonest for the political atmosphere of the Globe's section.

Political Intelligence.

Mr. Adam M. Myers is in the field for the East Riding of Northumberland. The late member, Mr. Byrne, has also issued his address.

Alderman McDuffie has announced his intention of contesting East Toronto against the Hon. William Crooks Cameron.

Mr. John Brodie is a candidate for Kingston. It is said that Mr. Robinson is also to be a candidate.

Mr. O. Birker has been selected for the Office of Prince Edward to oppose Mr. Anderson. The election of the latter is considered certain.

Mr. Adam Crooks is the Ontario candidate for West Toronto against Mr. John Wallis.

Mr. Alex. Brown, member of the House of Commons for North Bruce, is in the field in South Bruce in opposition to Mr. Blake.

Mr. Adam Brown, of Hamilton, has been selected to oppose Mr. Williams. Mr. Brown is one of the most popular men in that section of country and will defeat any one who might oppose him, except Mr. Williams.

In East Peterborough Mr. O'Donoghue, of Toronto, is to oppose Mr. O. Read, but will stand no chance.

Mr. Sidney Smith is to oppose Mr. Fraser in West Northumberland.

Alex. McEneaney, M. P., is standing it in Hamilton.

Mr. Carnegie is in the field for West Peterborough with a good chance of election. His opponent is Mr. T. M. Fairclough.

SCHOOL-BOY GRATEFUL.—A school-boy from the country thus annoys about his grievances:—"When a boy goes to school in the morning he forgets to bring his pen. Why then does the teacher take his pen away from him? He takes it away from him because he has not brought his pen. He takes it away from him because he has not brought his pen. He takes it away from him because he has not brought his pen."

Inland Revenue Returns.

The first report of the Minister of Inland Revenue was submitted to the House on the 3rd inst., and contains the following important facts. The estimated statement shows the amount of revenue derived from different sources from 1860 up to 1880-70, the first year of Confederation, £1,753,921; 1880-70, £1,410,410. In 1880 the gross revenue collected from Customs, Excise, and Inland Revenue was £2,814,325; in 1880-81, £2,752,929. In 1870 the Customs revenue was £1,459,940. As a consequence of the tariff, the department of Inland Revenue exceeds in value the whole revenue service of the late Province of Canada in 1880, and approximately in importance to the customs department in 1880, which then embraced excise and canals. The principal branches of revenue are now managed by the department. In speaking of warehousing, the report shows that nearly two-thirds of the quantity of spirits produced was warehoused, all the salt, six sevenths of the tobacco, and eight tenths of the spirits. A considerable quantity of the salt, nearly one-half the tobacco, and more than a third of the whole quantity of petroleum, in the refined petroleum produced, 9,231,088 gallons, 5,274,099 gallons were exported. The number of licensed establishments under the survey of excise officers in 1880-70: Distilleries 37; malt houses 112; brewers 143; tobacco manufacturers 100; petroleum refiners 33; bonded manufacturers 8. The revenue duty on spirits which in 1880 was 105 cents was, together with that from distilleries licenses, $40,988. In 1880, the year of Confederation, when 383,004 consumers were added to our population, the revenue was $313,833, the duty charged being 45 per cent. In 1880-70 it had fallen off 30 per cent, as compared with 1880. The quantity of spirits taken for consumption in 1880 exceeds the average consumption of the three years under consideration by 383,000 gallons, and it is greater than the average of the three years immediately preceding Confederation by 770,000 gallons. By a REVISED EDITION
I read that several about him, that no one on the globe had written him or the man that wrote it was the highest I could find.
But there's one thing that's true and certain, the fellow who wrote it was known more about him than most about him.

Before writing of him and his
and his wife from a throat
new York from the
and his wife from a throat
and his wife from a throat
and his wife from a throat

What look it is the fullness
That he put in an eagle's life,
About holding her nose like the hawk,
And as he thought that a grayer was a joke
To poke a stealer along?
Don't he know that an eagle's life is better
If you open the throttle strong?

A man that runs on the Mississippi
Has trouble and worry enough,
Without being called a dead-end
It could have been a lot better
On a wheelbarrow that's low cost coal
Much more on a pack to rest.

If he had "seen his duty" at all,
He'd have known that he could do more
By selling up on that "yellow" life,
And helping the known that he could do more
By selling up on that "yellow" life,
And helping the known that he could do more

Dr. Chalmers, St. John N. says, Alvin's Lung Balm is truly an invaluable remedy for the cure of throat and chest
R. K. Ripley, writing from Danville, Va., says there have been two wonderful cures of consumption here the past year by the use of Alvin's Lung Balm and it sells beyond all precedent.

Cummings introduced the licensing of bridges.

ROADS AND BRIDGES Committee on Roads and Bridges.

First petition taken up.

Farley moved, seconded that the road from the engine house near the station be a city road.

White said there was no gravel roads, so motion was proposed to be assumed. The motion was carried.

Next petition was that of the Collins family, who claimed $40 compensation for the timber taken off his lot for a school site. Mr. Flint said Collins was not entitled to any factor for building the bridge, but he was entitled to a quantity of timber on the lot. He said that if he could get nothing on the lot, he should be given the sum should be given. Mr. Warden thought it was a very generous precedent to set. He said that the individual should sue for his own interests. Mr. Farley seconded the motion. Mr. Flint said that he was not going to pay him by Collins, but he was going to make the timber from the lot. He said that the Surveyor should hear the case.

It would place the unfortunate position. Farley thought Mr. Birney would be in a very liberal manner. The Warden recommended the case be laid over for advice. Mr. Flint thought Mr. Birney would be in a very liberal manner from the Council. He would pay for timber cut.

cessful business. It has a Farm, a Town Village, &c., well managed by its Board, liable for a loss in their other branch, the expense of working it over by itself. It is in proportion to the amount of business in each. Insurance can be effected as easily in the "Hastings Mutual" as in any of the Mutuals in Canada, and it is to the interest of every person in this vicinity to patronize the Hastings Mutual, as it is the only one with its own resources, where their business of insurance managed by a Board of Directors, their own company and thereby husband their own cash. Personally, I wish you people have the most implicit confidence in me.

Brown and the Scott Murder.
(From the Toronto Telegraph.)

17. Mr. C. Cameron, who is now so highly denounced, attended the greatest of the meetings. Brown and Blake were conspicuous by their absence. In yesterday's issue of his newspaper, Mr. Brown attempted to excuse himself and his pet after the fashion:—

"It is charged by the Ministerial papers that Mr. Brown nor Mr. Blake appeared at the meetings about the Scott murder, and that they were like warm about the matter at the time. The charge bears abundantly on the face of it. If Mr. Brown is identified with the utterance of the Globe, he was uttering dire protests against the murder, and has been doing so at intervals ever since."

A deputation of the gentlemen who were instrumental in getting up the mass meetings waited on Mr. Brown and asked him to move one of the resolutions. Did Brown accede to this request? He did. He positively refused to take any part in the meeting, and this was the reason given:—That if he were to appear on platform and make a speech it would

He nothing whatever about poor Scott. encouraged the meeting, because he thought it would have a political effect against Government; but he was cunning enough not to attend, because he was afraid of being the most prominent opponent of Government.

The second meeting was called by Brownites who were not quite as with the resolutions adopted at the The whole thing was arranged in Brown's office. The resolutions were passed in that place. The day before meeting, a member of Mr. Brown's called on Mr. Alderman Canavan with resolutions, and asked him to move on them. The argument he made use of that the meeting would have a special effect on the Government; and that it was Scott murder were properly worked Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues would be defeated, and Brown and clique would get into power.

Such has been Brown's conduct first to last with respect to the tragedy has been party party party all the

He appeals to Orangemen to rally to the standard, forgetting that, not many years ago, he demanded that the Orange in-

This is sometimes injured by cold, but never fails of a good crop. There are however no new plantings. One-ninth is planted to Concord—never was a favorite, and is planted no more; Diana to about healthy in fruit and foliage, and the grapes rank with the Delaware. It has given varied results with different cultivators and its position is not yet established. With good roots, planted on very strong rich, dry, warm soil, it will grow well, nearly as fast as Catawba—color with the Delaware and ripens with the Isabella. Young vines are much injured by frost.

L. R. Ripley, writing from Danville, Quebec, says there have been two wondercures of consumption here the past year by the use of Allen's Lung Balm and it sells beyond all precedent.

French Correspondence.

ANNAS, Feb. 18.

Although France is incapable to continue further war, and the nation desires from its heart to achieve that undisturbed thing—an honorable peace, yet the people are so confident that matters will terminate as smoothly as they were a fortnight ago.—Possibly as the moment approaches for swallowing that bitter pill—ceasing of territory—the wry faces may be mistaken for the half desire to have a last trial with this enemy—on the principle that while there evidently greater activity in the marching and massing of troops—their number does not appear to be increased, nor their efficiency improved. The army is not yet ready to enclose more market. Chazary is anxious to have admitted he has no army able to hold head against the Germans in the west, and that he would rather see his countrymen and the forces in the north. However, friends and foes are impatient, that the Mohammed coffin state of affairs may end; it is more trying than even during hostilities, when the people were able to do something for life; as it is, one cannot just do nothing as being forced to wait, but fret and consume every day of one's life and work.

We are glad that Paris is out of danger but being starved, but mothers and children desire to escape. The army is not ready to change the danger of sickness, and the drawbacks to comfortable life. Husbands are disappointed at having still to live upon their capital, and yearn for the occupation of will Molike take anything for granted. In the meantime the Germans make the Parisians feel that they are not to expect such a thing from them. The English and the Americans are not to be deceived, and how light is the hand that reins them. Their promise to receive correspondence, and from Paris, they have so well kept; that Versailles has become a vast dead letter office. The Tontons are possibly following in the wake of the courtiers, who during the reign of Louis XIV., amused themselves by the same game. They steal the letter-bags from the post, laugh over scandal, and speculate on intrigue. It is bad enough for business affairs, but to think of the thousands who daily wait and watch for the epistle sent, but never delivered, is letters to be transmitted, sealed—it would be more considerate to that what has been considered to date.

A striking proof that Paris has returned to ordinary life, is the resumption of the barrier dues, by order of the municipality, on commodities entering the capital. Nothing save but death and taxes in the vale of tears. The citizens are in no mood for complaint—only send in the food, and such as arriving in quantities of salubrity and good taste.

The little market of la Villette has been re-opened, and as the sheep and oxen wend their way to be there sold, and slaughtered close by, crowds of people go to visit the scene, point proofs of Paris being revivified. Many suspicious children doubtless promise to be good if brought to the right place. The rest of the world is made the same. The bestial some hundreds of horses were waiting their turn to be converted into steaks and prime joints, when the armistice allowed them to be replaced by the usual class of guests. Oa being restored to civil life, it is again the duty of the Government with delight to comprehend the danger that had escaped. The following are the lowest market quotations at present of some of the necessities of life, and by adding thereto five hundred per cent, the prices which reigned during the latter days of the siege can be known:—beef, 5 greatest fall in prices; thus potatoes cost 4 francs a bushel; onions, 1 franc a quarter and leeks 9 sous a dozen; apples and pears 9 sous each, and fruit generally 4 francs a dozen. Bread, white and a pound, unlimited in quantity, and pe-command all the little that man wants below. A better

Versailles, where it is next to high treason, to purchase and bring away a pound of

The good effects of the siege—a well known hotel proprietor of Versailles has just bought a vineyard in the Medoc district. The poorer Parisians are feeling the change—cooked (preserved) meat can be obtained at a reasonable price, and biscuits are 30 per cent cheaper than bread. The cater-mongers roll their carts cheerfully along the streets, and bring the coarsest sort of vegetables, fish and meat home to lean purses. The latter commodity is now free to be sold in the streets, for a few centuries

MONTREAL, 6th Oct. 1871
 "DEAR REVEREND SIR

"I hope you will pardon me if I take liberty of disturbing you to day by writing to you to explain some of the circumstances which have accompanied the appointments of the Chaplains to the two Canadian Battalions for the Red River Expedition. Dr. Schultz at their Head.

Officers Set at Defiance.

The Government Virtually Overthrown.

(From the Toronto Leader.)

Cuckoo, March 14.

Advices from Pembina to the 14th inst.

represent that another outbreak has occurred on the reserve. The 1st battalion of Canadian volunteers are in open revolt and at defiance these officers and the civil authorities. The present indications are that the Government is defeated, and that all authority has passed into hands of the Canadian troops stationed at Upper Fort

Gary. Dr. Schultz is the recognized head and leader of the insurgents.

Within a few days nominations will be made and elections held for four members of the Dominion House of Commons. Arming of soldiers and the mob is apprehended.

All law abiding citizens look forward with dread to the 4th of March, when the soldiers and Schultz party propose to celebrate the anniversary of Scott's execution.

Another letter says that so great is the dread of lawless soldiers and violence that unless there is an improvement in the condition of affairs many of the people will abandon their farms and flee to the United

could be learned from them. The atmosphere was not such that it was difficult to place us out even with our glasses, whether we were or were not standing, to the guns which we saw. We expected every moment to see a puff of smoke from our gun, and to be followed by the whizz of a round shot past our heads. Every moment increased the excitement, the shrieks quickened their pace as the shells whizzed, as if it drew them, and others seemed to tell it before them. Everything remaining silent, some officers were sent galloping round to see if the southern gun was firing, and what was going on in the rear of the Port. They soon returned bringing word that it was evacuated, and the gates left open.

"This was at first a great disappointment to the soldiers, who having gone through so much toil to get down to the rebellion, longed to be avenged upon its authors. Our victory, although bloodless, was complete."

Then follows a general description of the Port, the town and the surrounding country, which contains nothing new to Canadian readers, and much of which is written in what seems to us to be bad taste. Finally the narrative thus concludes:

"The first detachment of the regular troops started from Fort Garry on their return journey to Canada on the 29th of August, and all of them had left on the 1st of September. The two militia regiments had been quartered, one in the Lower or Stone Fort, the other in Fort Garry. The regulars had all the while been in the land near Lake Superior on their return journey before the 1st of October, and were in their barracks at Quebec and Montreal before the autumn had closed in."

"So ended the Red River Expedition—an undertaking that will long stand out in our military chronicles as possessing characteristics peculiarly its own. The force which landed at Massawagan in 1867 had to march about 400 miles inland through an uninhabited country where supplies were obtainable, to relieve some British prisoners held captive by a sovereign, half tyrant, half madman. Europe was in profound peace at the time, and all supplies were sent by its ships. Although there can scarcely be said to have been any fighting, as we had not even a man killed, still our Ministry was glad to have an opportunity of attacking so much general attention to a military operation entirely English; and many think that for the millions spent upon it, as was a nation, received an equivalent in proving before the world that we were still capable of military enterprise. The force sent to Red River for the purpose of crushing out rebellion there, had to advance from its point of disembarkation more than 600 miles through a wilderness of water, rocks and forests, where no supplies were to be had, and where every pound weight of provisions and stores had to be transported for miles on the backs of soldiers. Happily its object was accomplished, as is the expedition to Ayrault, without loss of life. A great war was raging in Europe whilst this Expedition was forcing its way over and through the immense natural obstacles that lay in its path. All thought of affairs upon the Rhine, no one could spare a moment's reflection for the doings of this little British army. No home newspapers cared to record its success nor to sound one single note of its honour. By the careful administration of General Lindsay, and the officers he had selected to carry out his orders, the total expense of the whole Expedition was under £100,000, one quarter of which only was to be paid by England. There was no needless waste either in material or in money. Such a careful economy was exercised in its organization, and in administering to its subsequent wants, that it may be safely asserted that no such distance has ever been traversed by an efficient brigade numbering about 1,400 souls, in any one of our numerous little wars at such a trifling cost."

"The English flag had been pulled down, and the standard of rebellion had been raised at Fort Garry. A letter to his Queen had been murdered, loyalty having been his crime. Men were imprisoned and robbed without even a mockery of a trial. The perpetrators of these crimes believed that the wilderness which separated them from civilization would secure them from punishment; but the manner in which our expedition performed its allotted task, proved that no distance or intervening obstacles can afford protection to those who outrage our laws."

The Province of Manitoba, relieved from the oppressive which Riel had established, has a great future before it. Notwithstanding the severity of its long winter, nature has been so bountiful to it in the fertility of its soil, that it only wants a population and railway connection with the sea coast to make it at no distant period the granary for our empire."

THE END.

A HUMAN CONSCIENCE.—A singular character, one Horace Hawes, a lawyer, has just died in San Francisco over sixty years of age. By the practicing of his profession and his extremely pious habits, and by "hard grabbing," he has accumulated a property valued at two millions of dollars. He has made a will leaving his property to the city for public purposes, but has inserted so many restrictions that it will be impossible to carry out the provisions of the will. He was a married man, and his wife was a young widow, and has left her and his child totally unprotected for. As he was dying, he sent a special message to the judge of the various courts requesting that they would adjourn, as his practice on the decease of a prominent member of the bar. Perhaps he was afraid of being too much respected. Some months since he advertised in the "Fraser" that he was a man who was to sell his wife, child, or any servant of his anything on credit without his written order for every transaction. The matter was not taken up, and it is stated that applications were made to the courts to set aside his will on the ground of insanity.

The White Flag Crossed with Red

The following beautiful poem was written by a daughter of General Lundy, who is only twenty years of age, and is in aid of the White Flag Crossed with Red.

What is glory? What is glory?
Is it honor? Is it fame?
Is it something that, when it is
"Quitting," is "Quitting?"

Then I asked myself, and I found the answer in my heart,
Through my sleeping vision gleamed,
A vision of a hero's part.

I thought, was standing, gazing
On a long and lonely road,
With a heavy heart I wandered Mid the haze of misty clouds.

When the angels of destruction
Fell between two mighty nations,
With lightning bolts in power and might,
The world seemed to be in flames.

ALBION HOTEL

Has for twenty years been the favorite resort of the general traveling public in the United States, as well as of Canada, when visiting Montreal.

The hotel is situated on McGill Street, the great thoroughfare and commercial center of the city, commanding a magnificent view of the River St. Lawrence, the Victoria Bridge on the left, and the view of Victoria Square and Mount Royal on the right. The hotel is furnished throughout in a superior manner, and everything arranged with a view to the comfort of guests. As one of the largest hotels in the Dominion, having ample accommodation for 500 guests, while kept in first-class style, the moderate sum of $1.00 per day will be charged as heretofore. The traveling comfort will be maintained by the Albion Hotel when visiting Montreal.

New Principles of Medicine (Vis: Rodway's Ready Relief, Regaining P Surrey's Resident)

Dr. Hawley's medicines are prepared on scientific principles, and that is why they stop pain so quickly and the most dangerous diseases so rapidly, and so little inconvenient to the patient. Some contemporaries boast in their advertisements, that nothing new in their medicines—that the ingredients are all to be found in the U. S. and other dispensary their published formulas are copies taken from the

...for their pain, prostration, and asthenia, is a similarity to a lot of European, Irish, and other ailments. Were not these principles of non-blooding medical virtues from having demonstrated action, progress in the science of it would be a slow coach. Take, for instance, the popular remedial agents of the day—Sarsaparilla, its adjuncts forming the official compound, or purgatives, of aloes, jalap, &c. Physicians, chemists, pharmacopœists, physicians, all, more or less,

Using these agents as uncertain, unreliable, & dangerous, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is a medicine based on good, sterling principles. The formulas of preparing the pills are based on wrong principles, and therefore put up specific remedies, on the old basis prescribed, are substituting nothing for the public. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are new medicines, prepared on new principles. They will cure without delay or inconvenience.

VICE PRESIDENT—O. H. BOULTER.
DIRECTORS—HOW. ROBT. MARY, M. J. JOHNSON,
COOK, E. W. WILLIAM, B. A. M. J. JOHNSON,

JAS. H. PECK, SHERMAN—THAYER, R. C. JONES.
SALARIES—THE MERCHANT BANK OF CALIF.

This company is now taking a successful business. It has a Farm, a Cow, a Village, a ranch, both managed by the Board, and members of one branch are now in the city. The company is now in the midst of a season of working, horses by each branch in proportion to the number of members. Insurance can be effected as cheaply in the "Hastings Mutual" as in any other company in California, and it is to the interest of every person in this vicinity to patronize the Hastings Mutual. The Hastings Mutual has no reserves, have their business of insurance managed by a Board of directors, and the Hastings Mutual is, in whom the people have the most unquibbling confidence. NEW FORM OF Summons, Special Summons, Executions, Garnishments, &c., now printed and for sale at the Intelligencer Office.

Notwithstanding the great range of Fevers, Agues, Ailments, &c., that Hoadley's Ready Relief cures, time and experience prove it to be the H.S.F. and SAFEST CURE for

FEVER AND AGUE, CHILLS AND FEVER,
SCARLET FEVER,
Bilious Fever

In the world There is no Ague Cure like Chingogue or preparation of Quinine, Arsenic, or its salts

Radway's Ready Relief.

No, not one. Thousands, from over-living with Quinine, Arsenic Mercury, bottled in many Ague Cures and Private Practices, pay the penalty of suffering from skin and humors, and other eruptions of distaste. These agents never cure, but soothe the disease, whereas sided by Radway's Pills, not only cure the worst cases, but will protect the system against attacks of Ache and all other evils.

One 25 Cent Bottle of

Radway's Ready Relief

Is better as a cure for all Fevers, Chills, Bilious Attacks, &c., than the Quinine Mixtures. As a cathartic, it cures Colic, costing $1 to $3, and all other ailments which require hundreds of pills, without that three are not.

Use One 25 cent bottle of Radway's Ready Relief daily in cold seasons of great fever. It gives you mental buoyancy, and superior in quality, to all bottles of the 25 cent Pain Remover, Panda, Kidney Pills, or any other medicine. Beware of cheap imitations being put upon the market under the name of "Ready Relief."

cents, on a Plain Family and for Family Purposes will relieve every kind of head trouble, a cold, and catarrh of the nose, and the throat, and would cost at least twenty-five cents to buy to purchase prescription, or drugs every time pain suddenly occurs, or becomes chronic.

Special Attacks where

Radway's Ready Relief

WILL AFFORD INSTANT EASE

Inflammation of the Kidney, Inflammation of the Bladder Congestion of the Lungs
Sore Throat, Difficult Breathing, Pain of the Heart, Hysterics

Headache, Diphtheria, Catarrh, Influenza, Measles, Toothache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism,
Cold Chills, Ague, Malaria.

The application of the Hot Rub to the parts where the pain or difficulty was, will afford relief in a few minutes.

40 Drops to a Teaspoonful in Water
